

STANFORD WHITE OWED $600,000

His Feasts and Festivities
Cost Enormous Sums.

Widow Will Sell His Art
Treasures to Pay
His Debts.

New York, April 4.—Mrs. Stanford White will turn over the proceeds of the sale of the former home of the Whites in this city, and the great quantity of art treasures it contains to McKim, Mead & White, architects, to pay at least in part of the debt which Mr. White owed his firm when he was murdered by Harry K. Thaw June 25, 1906. Also, it transpires that Mrs. White has given instructions that the amount received from the insurance on her husband's life shall be applied to the same account.

A short time after the murder it was said that Mr. White had overdrawn his account with his firm, but the amount was not stated. One report was that it was $500,000. The lawyer of the White family declined to discuss the subject, saying that announcement would be made at the proper time. No such announcement has ever been made. It is now ascertained, however, that the amount overdrawn was about $600,000.

The sale, which will begin on this afternoon and continue until everything in the house has been sold, will be in charge of an auctioneer who will knock down to the highest bidder the wonderful works of art gathered by Mr. White, a widely recognized connoisseur.

The members of the firm with which Mr. White was connected have been very reticent regarding their financial relations with him. An effort made to get a statement from them about the prospective settlement of account met with no more success than previous efforts. An intimate friend of Stanford White's, speaking soon after the murder, declared his belief that "there never was a time when Mr. White was unable to pay off his indebtedness if it had been necessary for him to do so," but he added: "It is true that he was a heavy spender and that he anticipated his income, but never did more than anticipate receipts of which he was absolutely certain."

Asked if it was not true that Mr. White was in debt to the firm at the time of his death, the friend said: "Not to any unusual extent. He was always more or less overdrawn."

In addition to Mr. White's indebtedness to the firm, it is understood that he lost a large amount of money in Wall street speculations, but this is not now an indebtedness against his estate. According to the story told by an intimate friend, Mr. White lost about $300,000 in stock speculations about a year ago.

He appealed to his friends for assistance. They had a meeting and after an examination of his broker's accounts they agreed to take up the account and carry it until his losses were wiped out, providing he would sign a promise never again to speculate. Mr. White agreed to this, and his losses were taken over by a syndicate, which subsequently recovered almost what had been advanced by a rising market.

Mrs. Stanford White is understood to have been well provided for by her relatives, who are wealthy. She was Miss Bessie Smith, daughter of Judge J. Lawrence Smith, of New York, and a descendant of Col. Richard Smith, the original patentee of Smithtown, L. I. The family have been prominent and wealthy for many generations.

Obstruction to be Removed.

The continuous high waters in Rough River the past winter have caused immense land slides in numerous places between Hartford and the locks. At some points acres of ground, carrying large trees, have gone into the river, and extended almost the entire width of the stream. Just below town near the Holbrook barn, it is difficult to get through with a small gasoline launch. It is very important to Hartford and all points on Rough river that the stream be kept open to navigation. The boat, "We Three," has become a fixture in the trade between here and Evansville, and has been of untold benefit to our people in the matter of freight and is destined to be of still greater use in the near future.

Certain interests have worked every conceivable scheme to get the boat out of this trade, and its loss would be a black eye to Hartford.

It has been difficult to get the engineers representing the Government to do any work on this river, to keep it clear of obstructions. Last week this paper took the matter up with Engineer Oversreet, who is in charge of Green and Rough rivers, with headquarters at Bowling Green, and received the following letter in response:

"Bowling Green, Ky., April 2, 1907.—Dear Sir: Your letter of the 30th, ultimo, just received. In reply, I desire to say that a boat and snagging party will be dispatched at once to your river and, it is hoped, that the greater of the obstructions may be removed without delay. I am sorry that the rivers has become so obstructed but if the stage continues favorable I think we may be able to relieve your distress in a short time. This party should reach the vicinity you refer to by not later than the 5th, instant, anyway."

SEVEN MURDER CASES IS THE RECORD

For Daviess County Circuit Court
Which Convenes Next Monday.

The criminal division of the Daviess Circuit Court will convene next Monday to dispose of one of the largest dockets since Judge Birkhead has been on the bench. Many cases are of importance, but the unusual bulkiness of the docket is due largely to the great number of indictments that were returned by the last grand jury on charges of selling cigarettes to minors.

There are seven murder cases on the docket, more than have stood for trial at any one term for many years. Three of the defendants are fugitives, and it is not likely that they will be found in time for trial at this term. The Bill Hunter and John Payne cases will probably come up for trial at this term. The trial of Hunter at last term resulted in a hung jury. Payne has never been tried. John Hill, who is charged with the murder of Dave Glenn, will likely be tried.

The indictment against Estill W. Neel on the charge of embezzlement will be disposed of at this term, either by trial or dismissal. Neel was tried at the last term on the charge of making false entries on the books of the Stanley Deposit Bank and acquitted.

Bird Hicks is the most numerous indicted man in the county. There are sixteen indictments against him on charges of selling liquor without license and selling liquor to minors.

The case of Ed Peacock, a former police officer, on the charge of dissuading a witness, will be called for trial at this term.—Owensboro Messenger.

Heavrin Takes Charge.

Mr. M. L. Heavrin was checked in as postmaster of Hartford Monday, having been appointed to the position by President Roosevelt a few weeks ago. The postoffice will be kept in the present quarters until the additions to the former law office of Mr. Heavrin are completed when it will be moved to the first floor of that building.

Mr. Heavrin and County Attorney E. M. Woodward have formed a partnership for the practice of law and will occupy the suit of office rooms being fitted up in second story of the Heavrin building.

Attorney C. M. Crowe will move back to the County Attorney's office in the Court House.

Centertown and Hartford Magisterial Districts.

The Sunday School Convention of the Centertown District will be held at Centertown next Monday afternoon and night, April 8. Every school in the district and everybody interested in the cause of systematic bible study are invited to be represented or be present. The Hartford District meeting will be at Beaver Dam with the Christian church Tuesday afternoon and night, April 9. All are likewise invited. Last week the announcement was made that a convention would be held at Rockport, but owing to a protracted meeting being in progress, the district and place was changed to Centertown.

AUGUSTUS E. WILSON.

Louisville papers say that Mr. Wilson will shortly announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor. He is one of the best known men in Kentucky, and as an orator has few equals. Whenever Ohio county Republicans have called on this gifted champion of their cause he has always responded. A canvass of members of the party in this county indicates that he is a hot favorite.

JUSTICE THOUGH TARDY AT LAST TRIUMPHS

Hiram Powers Who Killed Fitzhugh Renfrow Now in Penitentiary.

Hiram C. Powers, who on the afternoon of March 31, 1905, shot and killed Fitzhugh Renfrow at Narrows, Ky., has at last been landed behind prison bars at the Eddyville penitentiary. He was tried on the charge of murder at the August, 1905, term of the Ohio Circuit Court and given a term of 21 years in the penitentiary. The judgment was appealed from and in May, 1906, the Court of Appeals affirmed the lower Court's decision, and on June 1, Powers was taken by Sheriff Martin to the Eddyville penitentiary.

Immediately after being turned over to the prison officials a trial for lunacy resulted in a verdict to the effect that Powers was of unsound mind and an order was made transferring him to the Hopkinsville Asylum.

He has been in the asylum since that time until last week when he was transferred back to the penitentiary, where he begins serving his term of 21 years.

The shooting which resulted in Powers killing Renfrow occurred in the yard of Dr. J. H. Maxwell at Narrows and was without provocation if the statements of eye witnesses go for much. Mr. Renfrow had gone to the home of Dr. Maxwell on a business errand and while engaged in conversation with him Powers came on the scene. He began talking to Renfrow in loud and boisterous terms about a trivial matter demanding that Renfrow fix it up at once. Renfrow tried to waive the matter but Powers became insistent, drew his pistol and fired three times, all shots taking effect. Mr. Renfrow expired almost instantly.

At the trial Powers plead self-defense and insanity but was found guilty as before stated.

Old Negress' Prediction.

Hawesville, Ky., April 2.—There is considerable excitement among the colored population of this town, caused by a prediction of "Aunt Sally Owens," an old colored woman, made last night, in which she says that the Ohio will again overflow its banks and turn to petroleum and burn this section of the country.

"Aunt Sally" is regarded as a prophetess by her many followers. They claim that she prophesied the last flood to a certainty.

Date Set For Hargis Trial.

Lexington, Ky., April 2.—The trials of Judge James Hargis, Senator Alexander Hargis, Elbert Hargis and Sheriff Ed Callahan, all of Breathitt county, charged with the assassination of James Cockrill, were assigned to-day for trial May 7. Prosecutor Byrd, of Winchester, asked for that date. It is expected that when the cases are called they will be continued, as Judge Hargis will be placed on trial for the alleged murder of Dr. Cox at Sandy Hook, Elliott county, on May 28. There weeks at least will be required for the Cockrill trial.

PLAN TO TEST JUVENILE COURT ACT.

Hopkinsville Case Will be Taken to Court of Appeals for Final Determination.

Hopkinsville, Ky., April 2.—The formal steps have been taken preparatory to the testing of the new Juvenile Court law in the case of Charles Tuck and Jim Moore, two colored boys, claiming to be thirteen and fourteen years of age, who were convicted of throwing stones into an Illinois Central passenger car in this county. The jury fixed as their punishment a fine of $200 each and one year in the penitentiary.

The attorney for the boys filed a motion for a new trial on the ground that the Circuit Court did not have jurisdiction in the case, as the new juvenile law expressly states that all prisoners under seventeen years of age shall be tried before a Juvenile Court. This motion was overruled and an appeal was then prayed and granted.

The case will be presented to the Court of Appeals, and the question whether or not the Juvenile Court shall try felony cases, or, in such instances, these shall be submitted to the Circuit Court, will be passed upon. This will be the first test of the new law and the decision of the higher court will be anxiously awaited.

No Apology Needed.

The fact that no Tariff disturbing movement is now in sight, Congress having adjourned without paying attention to agitation in that direction, is having an exhilarating influence on business affairs in various directions. From iron manufacturers and steel mills come reports to the effect that new orders are coming in more rapidly than deliveries can possibly be made, and in many important lines night and day operation are not sufficient to even keep up with current requirements. This is a situation which makes necessary no apologies or explanations so far as the advocates of protection are concerned.—Cadillac (Mich.) Express.

FINE SHOWING FOR COMPANY H.

Praised By United States Officer
at Annual Inspection--List of Lucky Prize Winners.

The long looked for inspection of the local company of National Guards occurred Tuesday night at the rink. Maj. J. C. F. Tillson, United States Army, with headquarters at Chicago, and Assistant Aft. Gen. Marvin Parent, of Frankfort, arrived in Hartford Tuesday afternoon to make the inspection. This was the first time the boys had undergone this ordeal, so much dreaded by all soldiers, and it was to be expected that they would be a little nervous. However, they conducted themselves like old "vets," and elicited the praise of the inspection officer, and the large audience present to witness the maneuvers.

At eight o'clock the company assembled at the Court House and marched to the rink. There they stacked arms and unfolded their camp equipment, exhibiting every article for close scrutiny. The boys had their cups, plates, knives and forks shining like new silver. After walking up and down the long line, the officers were unable to find a spot of rust or particle of dirt. The company was then put through some difficult foot movements and the manual of arms. They showed themselves most proficient in the latter.

The grade was "A No. 1," which is the highest possible. The boys were complimented for quickness, snappy movement and good drill work. On all those points they were said to be ahead of the Leitchfield company, which has just been inspected. Capt. DeWeese and the other officers are entitled to great credit for having given in Hartford and Ohio county such a creditable military organization to use Maj. Tillson's own words, "one of which the citizens may well be proud."

Prizes were awarded by Col. Parent, for condition of individual equipment, and general soldierly bearing among those who attended the Henderson encampment as follows:

Musician Allison Barnett, Privates, Seymour Bennett, Lawrence Gary, Roy Heavrin and Van Crabtree.

Among non-commissioned officers and new recruits: Sergt. Oscar Fleener, Sergt. R. W. Tinsley and Private Ike Christian.

Special seats were provided for the parents, sisters and sweethearts of the boys, and many fair maidens looked on with excusable pride, as well as admiration, while the young soldiers showed off to good purpose. The city officials, newspaper representatives and a number of old soldiers were invited guests. Maj. Tillson and Col. Parent left Wednesday morning for Central City, where they will inspect Co. F.

FOR THE BUSY READER.

President Roosevelt will make the trip to Jamestown on April 25 on the yacht Mayflower, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, their two younger sons and possibly Miss Ethel.

Mrs. William Gollard escaped death at Georgetown by suddenly stooping over to catch a chicken. A stray bullet parted her hair and would have killed her had she been standing at the time.

John C. Tarpy, Chief of Police of Winchester, died from the effect of a bullet wound received several days ago in a fight with an alleged thief, during which he shot and killed his opponent.

According to reports from different parts of the State the Kentucky fruit crop has been materially damaged by the cold snap the first of the week. The fruit is said to have been destroyed in some localities.

Three men were killed and one woman was fatally wounded in a knife and pistol fight at an Italian labor camp near Ashland, Ky., Sunday night. The trouble was caused by a large quantity of liquor being brought to the camp and consumed.

After escaping death three times in railroad wrecks and being blown up by the explosion of a steam engine, John L. McGuire, an engineer on the I. C. railroad, died at his home in Paduch from a ruptured blood vessel caused by a fit of coughing.

Evidence showing that a two-weeks' old baby was murdered by being thrown into a creek in Fleming county was discovered at Ewing, when an autopsy was held on the body of the child found a week ago, and it is probable that sensational developments may follow.

The shaft and tippie of the West Kentucky Coal Company's mine at Sturgis was burned, with a property loss of $100,000. The fire was communicated to the shaft, and the timbering in the mine caught and burned all day Monday, in spite of efforts to extinguish it. The ground at the entrance to the mine is caving in as a result of the burning of the wood supporting the opening.

Bishop John C. Granberry, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South died suddenly at his home in Ashland while sitting in a chair. He was seventy-six years old, and had been Bishop since 1882. The death of Bishop Granberry makes four bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who have passed away during the past two years, the others being Bishops Tigert, Hargrove and Smith. Bishop Duncan is seriously sick and is not expected to recover, while Bishop Fitzgerald's health is exceedingly feeble.

A New Business House For Hart- ford.

Messrs. T. R. Barnard, Livermore, and Berry L. Taylor, of Hartford, have procured the store building recently vacated by Long & Company and will put in a stock of general merchandise. They will leave for the markets the first of the week and will open up for business about April 15. Mr. Barnard is an experienced merchant, having been in the mercantile business for the past twenty years and now owns a large interest in stores at Smallhouse and Livermore. Mr. Taylor is an accomplished young man, of excellent business attainments and is now engaged as civil engineer for the Hartford, Madisonville and Eastern Railroad company.

Mr. Barnard will, as soon as possible close out his business at Livermore, after which he will come to Hartford and devote his whole time to the business. In the meantime the business will be in immediate charge of Mr. Taylor and Mr. Henry Long. Owing to the lateness of the season the firm will not carry a complete stock until fall. We bespeak for the new firm an excellent business career.

Notice to Ice Customers.

IN MIDST OF NEW CONDITIONS

Are The People of The East
According to Berney.

President Must Have Support of People If He Is To Save Them.

In the beginning it seems that God joined law and equity, but man hath put asunder.

This is a fearful phrase, but when we see and study the events and existing conditions of these times, we have to admit that such is true.
When we see men everywhere becoming devoid of that human sympathy that should exist in the bosom of every man; actuated by avarice, consecrate themselves to the theme of money making even to the extent of working a hardship on so many of our people, we realize that the inhabitants of earth are in the midst of ne-conditions. It being evident that in these conditions abide no good thing for the great common people, it becomes imperative that something should be done to restore the system of commerce to the sovereign people where its belongs. The question is what can be done. The President seems to be using his energy in the course of restraint of corporate greed;
but what has he done, what can he do? It is true, some cases have been arraigned by the law and fined, but what does this kind of punishment affect? In most cases it is the people that are punished and not the guilty party.

Suppose the manager of the oil trust was to be arraigned for a violation of law and fined $2,000,000, how long at a one cent rise per gallon on oil would it take the people to pay the penalty?
This illustration will apply to many other corporations in this country.

We must remember that a very small mite laid on products by the small, amounts to large sums, as the following will show. Take one cent per bushel:

Corn, 2,300,000,000 bushels, $23,000,- 000.

Wheat, 5,800,000,000 bushels, $5,800,- 000.

Oats, 7,800,000,000 bushels $7,800,- 000.

Potatoes, 2,500,000,000 bushels, $2,- 500,000.

Tobacco, 500,000,000 pounds, $8,- 000.

So at one cent a bushel or pound
this will amount to an enormous sum

While this does not run at a just ratio of course, yet it goes to show what colossal sums can be collected just on these six products of the farm.

It is by drawing a little profit on each pound, gallon, bushel or dozen that has made so many millionaires.

It is by the aid of these large sums of money and combinations that some-are able to so operate these articles in commerce to make the price unfair to both producer and consumer.

Under these conditions, with money
the dominating power, what can our President do? With doubtful men enough in congress, that for a few hundred or a few thousand dollars would submit to anything and then have the audacity to call the bribe "my attorney fee!" What then is the remedy. We shall not undertake to suggest a remedy for all of this, but will offer instead a prophecy:

That unless by a combined effort of the great common people of this country, throwing their sentiment with all other honorable means against these things, they can unload themselves of this burden. It is beyond the power of man to stem the tide. We have nothing better to offer through which to work out the details of such an undertaking than the American Society of Equity, an organization of farmers and their friends, the object of which is to procure better prices to agriculturalists, and at the same time offering to stay within the confines of equity. And now, while the President of the United States is striking at these evils, let us hold up his arms. Let the sentiment of the whole country be with him, and bring to bear such a pressure that the parties by whom these evils are wrought will realize that the people have rights that must be regarded, and interests that must be preserved—J.H. Burney, ni Central City Republican.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in the country most dangerous because so deeply hidden. Many sudden deaths are caused by
it—heart disease,
pneumonia, heart
failure or apoplexy
are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scald-ing pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar

PLANT BEDS NOT BURNED PROPERLY

One Cause of Grass and Weeds
Coming up Says President
Berry of A. S. of E.

Henry Berry, president of the Daviess county union of the American Society of Equity, does not believe that there is a man in Daviess county mean enough to sow grass seed in his neighbor's plant bed. Mr. Berry said in speaking of the reported destruction of plant beds in the eastern portion of the county, that there had never been any lawlessness or vandalism in Daviess county by the farmers and that he did not believe any would exist. Mr. Berry says that he does not believe that the plant bed which were ruined by grass seed were burned properly.

"There is a scarcity of wood and brush over the county," said Mr. Berry, "and the farmers are not burning their plant beds as properly as they once did. I have had grass seed to come up in my plant beds and I am sure that no one scattered the seed over the beds. Then, too, the past two years have been fine years for weed crops. The seeds from weeds have been blown to places where weeds were never seen before. If grass seeds were seen on top of the plant beds of course that is pretty good evidence that they were scattered there by some person, but I do not know that to be a fact.

"I feel confident that we have as law abiding set of farmers in Daviess county as any county in Kentucky, and I cannot believe that any member of the American Society of Equity would be guilty of destroying his neighbor's property."—Owensboro Messenger.

COAL ORIGINATED FROM VEGETATION

Which Was Brought Under Water and Changed by Heat and Pressure.

Coal is believed to be made up of the remains of trees and plants, which grew on the earth in dense forest before man or any other animal had appeared. Changed by pressure, dampness and heat, this mass of vegetable matter became a kind of carbon mixed with bitumen. It is supposed that for thousands of years greater forest of plants grew up and died, and were followed by other plants until the swamps and lowlands became filled up, thick, closely packed beds of vegetable matter. These were in some way brought under water, and then the vegetable matter rotted and became packed so closely as to be turned into peat. This was in time changed by heat and pressure into a brown coal called lignite, which by a third change became coal. Coal is divided into three kinds according to the amount of bitumen mixed with the carbon. They are anthracite, which is a hard or stone coal, and has the least bitumen; bituminous coal, which contains more bitumen than anthracite, and cannel coal, which has the most bitumen. Coal was used in Britain by the Romans for smelting iron, and, perhaps, for warming.

About the end of the thirtieth century it was sent to London from Newcastle for use by smiths and tradespeople, because wood had become scarce, but people thought it poisoned
the air and in 1306 its use was ordered stopped by the King, under penalty of death. The prejudice against coal continued in England down to the seventeenth century and in France to the nineteenth. It was not until 1812 that the way to burn anthracite coal in furnaces was found out. In 1817 Joseph White and Erskine Hazard, who had a factory for making wire at the falls of the Schuylkill in Pennsylvania, got a lease of coal land in the Lehigh Valley for an ear of corn a year, so little did people know of its value. In 1820 they sent 365 tons to market. In 1827 a railroad was built from their mines to Mauch Chung. It was a gravity road. The cars ran down by their own weight and were hauled back by mules. Since then coal mining has become one of the greatest industries, and coal has become one of the most necessary and most useful articles in the world.

Rest is the great restorer. We tire our muscles by exercise and then rest to restore them; yet a great many of us do not stop to think how little rest we give to our stomachs. As a usual thing no part of our bodies is so generally overworked as our digestive organs. A tired and overworked stomach will give signs of distress to which we pay no heed until at last Dyspepsia takes hold. Indigestion is just a warning of further consequences. Kodol is a most thorough stomach relief. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach the needed rest and greatly assists in restoring it to its normal activity and usefulness. Kodol is sold on a guarantee relief plan. It is sold here by all druggists.

Southern Cotton Manufacture and Protection.

It will double interest and surprise
the majority of even well informed people to learn that South Carolina ranks second among the cotton manufacturing States and North Carolina third. Had John C. Calhoun been told that this would be the case in the earliest part of the twentieth century he would have said "Impossible;" and yet in a few years the South will far outrank the North in the production of cotton goods, and it should outrank the world. The latter, however, is possible only under one condition—continued Protection.

Not yet can the South manufacture
the finer grades produced in Lancashire and Massachusetts, but in time
it will be able to, if—we have continued Protection.

The present rates are too low, as is shown by annual importations exceeding $50,000,000 in value. We have free raw material in this industry. We have every advantage of proximity in coal for power as well as material, and yet we send our cotton abroad to be made into cloth, more than $50,000,000 worth of which we buy back. It is the most significant lesson in any American industry.

Twenty-five years ago the value of the product of South Carolina cotton mills was $30,000,000. To-day it is nearly $60,000,000. Twenty-five years ago the value of the product in the mills of North Carolina was less than a million and a half. To-day it is

WOMAN WHO IS HER OWN MOTHER

Married Three Brothers Divorced From Each.

But That Wasn't all She Then Married Father of Her Three Divorced Husbands.

Joe Primm, a resident of Martin, Tennessee, and his three sons, John, Jim and Jack, have had quite an eventful career in the matrimonial line.

Their next door neighbor was Spruce Williams, and Spruce had a daughter born on the same day the youngest Primm boy was born and they had been reared together and played with each other every day of their uneventful lives. Some ten years ago or more John, the elder of the Primm boys, felt that he was old enough to get married, and on looking over the field he found none that suited his taste better than his playmate from youth, and he paid her court and in due time the ceremony was performed. She came to the Primm household, which had stood for a long time in great need of womanly care, and assumed her duties.

In due time a child was born, a boy, and he was named John Primm, Jr. Differences soon arose, however, and one day she took her child and returned to the parental roof, declaring she could not longer live with her husband. He tried to induce her to return, but she would not, and so after two years he filed a bill charging desertion, and obtained a divorce.

By this time, Jim Primm came to the conclusion that it was time for him to take unto himself a wife. He had never stirred around among the young people to any great extent and his acquaintance was extremely limited among the female sex. But there was one woman that he was acquainted with, and that was Mrs. Mary Primm, the divorced wife of his brother, John. He laid the matter before her and in due time they were married, and she returned to the house she had left some two years before as the wife of Jim Primm. Her first husband made no objection and things ran along nicely for some twelve months when another boy was born and he was called Jim Primm, after his father.

Soon after this, however, household trouble came up and her husband, in a fit of anger, took a buggy whip and gave her a thrashing, whereupon she took her two children, and left and filed a bill in court for divorce and obtained the same. She lived quietly for a year or more at home, attending to her own business.

In the meantime Jack, the younger of the Primm boys, had become of age and got it into his head that he ought to marry. He had always been in love with his sister-in-law, although she had been the wife of his brothers, and he called on her. At first she objected, but he insisted and finally they were married. She got her things together and a third time resumed her station in the household she had twice filled before as Mrs. Primm. No particular objection was entered by the two elder brothers, and she went ahead with the housework for them all. In due time a child was born, also a boy, and he was called Jack Primm, Jr., in honor of his father.

Christmas came on and a jug was ordered. After all had imbibed pretty freely they got into a dispute about the relative mental capacity of the children. John Primm, Sr., declared that John Primm, Jr., was the peach of the bunch; Jim Primm, Sr., stated that Jim Primm, Jr., was the whole cheese; while Jack Primm, Sr., vehemently announced that Jack Primm, Jr., had already forgotten more at the age of six months than the other two children would ever know. A free for all fight was indulged in, ending up in Jack Primm beating up his wife's head with a pot lid, having gotten it into his head in some way that she had sided with his brothers and their children against him and Jack Primm, Jr., in the quarrel. She took all three of the children and left for home and refused to return. Jack tried to get her back, but she would not come and he got a divorce from her on the ground of desertion.

In the meantime her father and mother died. In some way they had lost their place. The mother died first, and then the father. The day old Spruce Williams was buried, old man Joe Primm attended the funeral. On his return home he stopped at the Williams place, now in the hands of aliens. He saw the divorced wife of his three sons in her anguish and sorrow, and his heart went out to her. He told her of his respect and tenderness for her, and that as she had no home and was without friends he would take her in and take care of her if she would become his wife. There being no legal objection, in a few days they were married. Last week, for the fourth time, the woman entered this home as Mrs. Primm, and assumed her duties at the head of the household. There was no serious objection upon the part of the boys, and they took in the situation as a matter of fact. The three children also returned with her, and each night each child sleeps with his father. All appear to be happy and contented, and it looks as if their matrimonial troubles were settled.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. E. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret agents of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny. Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from the standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral acids or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Sagaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, such as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

In the meantime, Mrs. Primm, as the wife of her present husband, is also at the same time the mother of her three other husbands. She is not only the mother of her three children, but also their grandmother. Being the wife of the father of her three husbands she is by marriage herself her own mother.

MEDALS FOR HEROES OF SPANISH WAR.

Uncle Sam Trying to Locate Those Who Helped to Lick the Spaniards.

Did you fight with the American navy or the marines against the Spanish in the waters of the West Indies? If so, you're entitled to a medal, and if you haven't already received it, just hold up your hand and answer "Here."

The Navy Department, according to a circular posted, is looking for every man who helped to whip the Spaniards, and it has several hundred medals on hand of which it wishes to dispose. Heroes who risked their lives in the service of their country have been advertised for, but still the most of them have failed to answer the honor call roll.

The officials of the Bureau of Navigation are anxious to locate all the former officers of the navy, as well as the enlisted men, both of the regular and volunteer establishments, who took part in any of the engagements in the West Indian waters.

By a legislative resolution of March 3, 1901, the Secretary of the Navy was authorized to issue bronze medals commemorative of naval engagements in the waters of Cuba during the Spanish-American war. A board of awards submitted a list of engagements which they deemed of sufficient importance to commemorate by awarding medals, but the Secretary enlarged the list so as to include all officers and men who were under fire in those waters. 0

A REPLICA OF INDEPENDENCE HALL

Will be Seen at Jamestown Exposition.

Other Colonial Structures Furnished by The State Will Exemplify History.

If you should arrive at the exposition grounds in a small boat, you would step ashore from Smith harbor at Discovery landing and find yourself standing in Raleigh square, looking down a broad vista of low symmetrical Colonial buildings toward the auditorium. To the right and to the left, stretching along the shore of Chesapeake bay, are the State buildings—Pennsylvania's, a replica of Independence hall; Massachusetts's, a counterpart of the original State house in Boston, where the constitution of the United States was adopted; Ohio's, an exact reproduction of the first store house built west of the Alleghenies; Georgia's, a reproduction of Bullock hall, where President Roosevelt's mother was born; and at the far end of the line in a thick grove of tall pines, Kentucky's State exhibit—Daniel Boone's fort and stockade. Such of the State buildings are in many instances models of the homes of well known citizens. Connecticut, for instance, reproduces the house of Benjamin Tallmadge; Maryland, that of Charles Carroll, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, while Virginia, Louisiana, Missouri, and other commonwealths have built Colonial mansions of charming and dignified architectural effect.

Beyond that portion of the main esplanade which has been named Raleigh square are fountains, lagoons, trees, shrubbery, and various pleasant effects of landscape gardening, on opposite sides of which stand machinery hall and the palace of manufactures and arts. Farther on, at the base of the great court, rises the auditorium building—with its imposing white colonade and low flat dome—flanked on either side of the historical arts and education buildings. Here are the administration offices, and here will also be held the various conventions and meetings of every known kind of organization. Some of the interesting and imposing bodies which have already arranged dates are: The International Association of Chief of Police, the association, the American Peanut congress, the National Congress of Mothers, the Association of Seaboard Air Line Surgeons, etc.

The features which the exposition people like most to talk about are the naval and military displays, which are to continue practically all summer. Chesapeake bay is to be full of warships, and vast areas, both within and without the exposition grounds have been set aside for military encampments. All sorts of soldiers are to be on view, from real soldiers down to tin soldiers. The war department will probably have a mixed brigade in camp all summer; the West Point cadets are to visit the exposition in June, the Annapolis cadets later. A parade ground of thirty acres, probably the largest anywhere will be the theater of evolution for all these warriors, and in between times the Knights of This, That and the Other will have a chance to shake out their feathers and do prize drills.

The Naval display will be in Hampton Roads, and it is supposed that more ships of all kinds and nationalities will salute Fort Monroe this summer than have burnt powder in those waters since the Columbus celebration of 1892. Our own entire North Atlantic squadron, and more, will gather for the opening ceremonies; and ships from England, France, Germany, Japan, Russia, Brazil, etc., are expected from time to time until November. The Japanese vessels, under vice Admiral Ijima, sailed February 28 from Yokohama, and are expected to attack Jamestown in force some time in May, capturing the public school exhibit without loss of life and occupying the California building on the anniversary of the earthquake.

Boat races among the crew of various nationalities will form a part of the regretta program. There will also be races for submarine boats. These will furnish much excitement to the fish in the Chesapeake bay, but probably the only way for humans to watch the contest will be to put on bathing suits and get under water. The crowd along shore looking at the smooth sea will feel like the small boy outside the fence during a baseball game.

All the good qualities of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is an unfailing cure for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obsolete old cases have been cured in a few weeks. All druggists, 75c., including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

NEGOTIATIONS BEGUN FOR SETTLEMENT

Between Wagon Manufacturers and Union Men Who Have Been Fired.

J. D. Wood, of Central City, is in Owensboro in the capacity of committee from the labor organizations to attempt to bring about a settlement of the existing disputes between the Carriage and Wagon Workers' union and the carriage and wagon manufacturers of Owensboro, says last Saturday's Owensboro Messenger. He has begun work along this line, and believes that he is making progress toward an amicable and satisfactory adjustment. Mr. Wood said last night that the business men of the city, or those of them that he has been able to see thus far, have promised him their support. He is not in position as yet to report any definite proposition.

Mr. Wood is well known in Owensboro, having for a number of years been prominent in labor circles. He comes to Owensboro with letters from business men over the district, assuring the Owensboro manufacturers that if they enter into negotiations with him he will act with the utmost conservatism and fairness.

The misunderstanding between the Carriage and Wagon Workers' union and the employers of the members began several months ago. Shortly after the organization was formed the factories closed down and when they were again opened only non-union men were employed. A number of men were thrown out of employment.

Multi-Millionaires Who Have Had Poor Fathers.

The father of Andrew Carnegie though he toiled early and late as a damask weaver of Dumfriesline, was barely able to supply the humblest of necessities for his small family; and when steam looms came to supplant hand weaving he was compelled to sell his looms and his few sticks of furniture and takes his boys to America, where he found employment as a weaver in one of the cotton factories of Allegheny City, and where one of his sons, little though he dreamed it, was to a mass one of the most colossal fortunes the world has ever known.

The father of John D. Rockefeller, whose wealth to-day is said to be at least double that of even Mr. Carnegie, cultivated a few barren acres in Tioga county, New York, and added a little to the family exchequer (scanty enough at the best) by sending out his boys to hoe and plow and husk corn for neighboring farmers.

W. A. Clark, the "copper king," of Montana whose fortune is variously estimated at from $40,000,000 to fabulous figures (some even credit him with an income of $20,000 a day), is the son of a small Pennsylvania farmer, who probably never cleared $500 in any single year of his life, and for whom the future millionaire did the hardest of farm labor until years after he had reached manhood.

FRIDAY, APRIL 5.

Ex-Senator Spooner seems almost popular enough to nominate for Vice President.

Politics in Ohio will be worth going miles to see, when that Foraker-Taft scrap is in full blast.

When asked to give his opinion on the Democratic situation, David B. Hill asked, "Where is it?"

There is still time to have a good attack of spring fever before summer makes its appearance.

Some of the jokes about the Easter bonnet are old enough to be buried and had enough to escape annual resurrection.

Dr. Wiley says that old whisky is the only safe thing. There are so many people who are not willing to wait until it gets old.

That 75,000 Republican majority in the Michigan State election, Monday does not look much like the country is going "pell mell" for Bryan.

Those San Francisco grafters had to be shaken loose by an earthquake. It will be pretty hard on honest people, but we suspect that is Louisville's only hope.

A friend of Mr. Bryan declares the "Nebraska's eye is clearer than ever." However, we doubt whether he can see his finish any better than he did in 1900.

During a parade in a Texas town, a few days ago, Senator Bailey rode in a carriage drawn by four milk white horses, as a tribute to the purity of his politics.

Hartford needs a building ordinance badly. People have very poor encouragement to erect good houses, if some one is to be permitted to place a fire trap adjoining them.

Our town should have a half dozen factories to start in with the completion of the railroad. However, unless we organize and extend encouragement to all such enterprises, they will "pass by on the other side."

The Covington Post publishes the result of a poll among Kentucky Republicans for President, Senator and Governor. According to it, the result showed a majority for Taft, with Fairbanks a close second in the Presidential race, and Wilson far in the lead for Governor. Bradley had the call for United States Senator.

Ex-President Cleveland wants us to let up on the railroads, and smash the tariff some more. There are too many persons still living who have a vivid recollection of Mr. Cleveland's 1893 smashing record, for his suggestion to meet with serious consideration. It will be remembered that very few persons, or things, escaped that "smash."

In the death of Hon. G. A. Groves of Pennsylvania, the country has lost one of its oldest and most revered Statesmen. Mr. Groves was eighty-three years old, and was a friend and co-temporary of Abraham Lincoln. He was one of the founders of the Republican party and supported Fremont for President in 1856. He began his career in Congress in 1851, and served almost continuously for half a century.

In the municipal elections held the first of the week in several States, the Republicans made notable gains. In Chicago, Busse the Republican candidate for Mayor, was elected by a majority of 13,000, also a majority of the City Council. The contest was a fierce one, and Dunne, the Democratic candidate, who was running for re-election, had the personal support of Wm. R. Hearst. His defeat is consequently hailed by many as another black eye for "Hearstism" and public ownership.

The Chicago Election.

The Chicago election returns which announce the election of Frederick Busse, Republican, as Mayor and entire Republican ticket show that the voters have repudiated Hearst, Hearstism, municipal ownership and all the quacks and quack remedies for Chicago's internal maladies. It is fair to presume that the new specialist, "Dr." Busse, has diagnosed Chicago's ills and will apply the remedy that will bring speedy and permanent relief.

It was Hearst who foisted Schmitz and his boodling gang on San Francisco. It was Hearst who threw a scare into the country when his candidacy for the Presidency in 1904 assumed a dignity out of all proportion to its merits. It was Hearst who threw the nation into a frenzy when he ran for Governor of New York State.

In fact, Hearst is the political "fasciata stegomyia" of the nation. In political seasons he is omnipresent. He stings. His stings is something fatal—but, thanks to the people, there are sufficient antidotes in the national ballot box.

The Chicago election does not mean that Hearst or Hearstism is dead—it's merely dying.

Among the Lodges.

A lodge of Red Men will be instituted in Hartford as soon as the Charter and necessary supplies can be received. The organization of this lodge is the result of the efforts of Mr. David Moskovitz, of Louisville. At a meeting of the proposed members last Monday night, the following officers were selected: Prophet, U. G. Ragland; Sachem, S. A. Bratcher; Senior Sagamore, W. M. Hudson; Junior Sagamore, R. W. King; Keeper of Wampum, John W. Taylor; Chief of Records, J. Ney Foster.

Rough River lodge K. of P. had a good attendance Tuesday night at the regular weekly meeting. One petition for membership was received. The building committee reported the acceptance of the lodge's offer to the Masonic lodge for an effort to build a union hall. The news was received with very great pleasure by the members. The committee on memorial services has secured the consent of Elder W. B. Wright to preach a sermon for the lodge the first Sunday in June, at which time the graves of Knights buried in Oakwood cemetery will be decorated.

Hartford Lodge No. 675, F. & A. M., held a largely attended meeting Monday afternoon and night. The work was begun at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and the Entered Apprentice degree was conferred on two candidates. Supper was served in the lower hall at 7 o'clock by the committee composed of W. H. Moore, Hooker Williams and E. L. Bullington. More than fifty members and guests were treated to a most delightful repast. After which the Fellow Craft and Master Mason degrees were conferred. Four applications for membership were received. Old 675 is humming. The proposition from the K. of P's for a union hall was accepted, provided satisfactory plans and details can be arranged. The matter was referred to the building committee. The two building committees met Tuesday afternoon and elected Rowan Holbrook chairman and E. M. Woodward secretary of the joint committee. Sub-committees were appointed to report plans for a building, for joint agreement, and to devise financial plan.

The Lady Maccabees, of Sunshine Hive No. 42, will meet at lodge hall to-night. All members are urged to be present.

City Council Wipes out Debt.

At a meeting of the City Council Wednesday night, the balance of the old debt amounting to about $1,500 was directed paid, and other claims, on account of current expenses, to the extent of $600 were allowed, leaving about $1,100 in the Treasury. The sewerage committee reported that the survey, now being made by Engineer Cooper, will not be ready for some time, and the committee was continued. The scales committee reported and was discharged. An ordinance seeking to close up all places of business, including soda fountains, etc., on Sunday was presented and defeated by a vote of three to one.

ED CALLAHAN FAILS TO APPEAR AT COURT

And Bond For Appearance in Contempt Proceedings is Forfeited.

Winchester, Ky., April 1.—At the opening of the Clark Circuit Court to-day the case of former Sheriff Ed Callahan, of Breathitt county, charged with contempt of court, in assisting to run off witnesses in the Marcum-Hargis damage suit, was called. He did not respond, and his bond of $1,000 was declared forfeited.

The bond of R. G. Mitchell, of Madison county, charged with forgery, was also declared forfeited.

A peculiar case is now pending. During the trial of the famous Marcum-Hargis suit, Felix Feltner deposited $1,000 in a local bank. He swore in court that it had been given to him by a man whom he did not know, for what purpose he did not know and he did not know whose money it was. B. Fult French, a co-defendant of Feltner, has sued him for attorney's fees and attached the money in bank, while Mose Feltner alleges that the money had been paid to him, and placed by him in the hands of Felix Feltner for safe keeping.

Epworth League.

An important meeting of the Epworth League is called for 6:30 p. m., at the Methodist church next Wednesday. Every member is urged to attend, as matters of very great importance are to be considered.

MORE DASTARDLY WORK OF NIGHT RIDERS

Thousands of Dollars Loss Has Been Sustained By Planters in The Dark District.

Princeton, Ky., April 1.—The tobacco raiders continue active in this section, and as a result of their latest depredations, the losses will run up into thousands of dollars, while practically no efforts are being made to capture the culprits.

Last night the tobacco bed of Mr. Cartwright, a well known planter living near Friendship, about six or seven miles east of Princeton, was totally destroyed, and Mr. Cartwright reports that about twenty other beds in his neighborhood have suffered a similar fate.

Reports are also coming in of great destruction being wrought in Christian, Lyon and other parts of Caldwell county, the beds of association members as well as independents suffering.

Unless something is done soon by the officials, it is believed here that vigilance committees will be organized and the criminals run to earth and taken dead or alive.

Special Session of Fiscal Court.

The Ohio County Fiscal Court met Wednesday with all the members present. The meeting was called to consider the best method to better condition of public roads.

Maj. Tillson and Col. Parent went before the court and discussed the question of a suitable armory for Co. H. It is probably some steps will be taken by the court, before it adjourns to secure suitable quarters for our soldiers.

After thorough discussion by members of the court and the advice of citizens who were requested to address them upon the question, it was decided that, owing to the weak financial condition of the county, at present it was best to continue the present system. The Road and Bridge Commissioner was directed to at once order each road supervisor in the county to proceed to place his section in good order in reasonable time and to report all failures to comply with the order to the County Attorney for prosecution.

A petition was presented by Mr. F. W. Pirtle, Albert Rial, and others, with subscriptions amounting to about $1,000, asking the court to macadamize the Sulphur Springs road a distance of 5 miles from Hartford.

A petition and subscription was presented by C. M. Barnett asking the court to rebuild the levee North of town above high water mark and to macadamize a distance of two miles. This paper contained a guarantee of $1,500 in subscriptions by the citizens. The court went out and inspected the levee and directed a survey and estimate of costs by a civil engineer. The engineer will report this morning and it is thought the court will undertake this work, conditioned upon the subscription being raised to $2,000. The court realizes that as large amount must be spent on this levee that it would be splendid economy for the county to secure $2,000 as a help to make it permanent. The court will likely be in session until Saturday. The members are all anxious to do the very best in their power to relieve the present condition of our roads, made almost impassable by excessive rains.

BOONE FORT TAKES DEFINITE SHAPE

Will Be Completed by Exposition's Opening if Material is Not Delayed.

Announcement has been received from C. J. Holtclaw, of Hampton, Va., the contractor who has been entrusted with the erection of the Fort of Boonesboro as the Kentucky building at the Jamestown exposition, that the structure is now well under way and will be easily completed for the opening of the exposition, provided the building material arrives in time. The exposition will open on April 28. Foundations have been laid for the six houses which will compose the State building.

Two of the houses will be located near the center of the stockade. These will be one story high, each about twenty feet square, and the two connected under one roof, with broad verandas running the full length on both sides. A sufficient number of logs has already arrived, the contractor says, to permit of the immediate completion of these two houses, which will provide the assembly place for Kentuckians and their friends.

Freight traffic is sadly congested in the vicinity of the exposition grounds, and it will not be until additional track arrangements are completed that all building material for Kentucky can be placed on the scene. Three cars of logs and one of clap boards have already been delivered. Two other cars have been shipped, and three cars will go out early this week. Logs for the construction of the State building will be furnished exclusively from the forests of Kentucky.

It has just developed that Kentucky will have another cause for congratulation over the location of the State building in the pine grove at the western limits of the exposition grounds. It will be the only State building which is shaded by trees of any consequence, and the unique character of the fort will harmonize splendidly with the surroundings. Word has been received by the Kentucky Commission that construction work has commenced on the commercial pier, which is to immediately adjoin the exposition grounds on the west.

The location of the pier and the announcement that work on it is well underway are sources of much gratification of the members of the State Commission. It means that between 5 and 75 per cent. of the visitors to the exposition will pass along one side of the Kentucky building on their way into the grounds and on their departure from them.

The pier will extend into Hampton Roads at the end of One Hundredth and Fourth street. This street is not more than seventy-five yards from the stockade of the Fort of Boonesboro, and the beautiful pine forest which surrounds the fort. It is probable that the gate from the pier will enter the grounds through the pine forests, thus turning the visitors into the very doorway of the Kentucky building, as it were.

President Atkinson and his associates on the Kentucky Commission are hopeful of substantial support from the Fiscal Courts of the State, many of which will meet to-morrow and others one week from to-morrow. Every Fiscal Court has been appealed to for an appropriation to the fund required in order that Kentucky may have a part in the exposition.

Farmers are Making History.

Since the world was, and since some men produced in one limit and others in another, those who produced food stuff and those who consumed it have been thought to be enemies one striving for a higher price and the other for a lower price for the same commodities. It was thought impossible to reconcile the fact that the farmers made more money when farm products were high and that the wage laborers saved more money when farm products were low.

But since the organization of the Society of Equity farmers have been studying as they never studied before, and on lines that were never before presented to them.

They have learned that the wage laborers are their principal customers, and without them their products must rot in the fields. They have learned also that the better wages the laborers receive the more can they consume of farm products and the better prices can they pay for them.

Having learned these things, the farmers were prompt to bring it before the wage earners, which they did at the great International Convention of the American Federation of Labor at Minneapolis last fall.

The laborers were as prompt to catch the idea as the farmers had been, and realized that the farmers were their best customers; that without the patronage of the farmers every shop and factory would close or run on very short time, and the laborers would be out of employment; also that when the farmers get good prices for their products they are able to buy more for laborer's products and thus stimulate all the industries.

Name of the Bird's.

The turkey derives its name from the erroneous belief when it was seen in England that it came from the land of the Sultan and not from America, where the wild turkey is indigenous, says New York "Tribune." The name cock is derived from the first syllable of the "cock-a-doodle-doo" with which chattering heralds the approaching dawn, while hen is derived from the Latin canere, to sing, in deference to the habit of the domestic fowl to indulge in this reception. Chicken is a diminutive of cock and pullet, from the French word poule, meaning a hen. A Frenchman calling on an English friend, said: "I hope I don't cockroach on your time."

"Hencroach, you mean," said the Englishman. "Yes, yes," replied the Frenchman, "I always did mix up those genders." The duck is so named from the habit of this aquatic bird of ducking its head under water in search of food. The male duck's designation of drake is traced back to the early Anglo-Saxon form of duck and both have apparently the same derivation. But why the phrase to make "ducks and drakes" of anything should have been derived from one of the most quiet of domestic fowls is not known.

The word "goose," when applied to a person, seems to have a significance that seems inappropriate when one considers the knowing ways of geese. When a young woman was asked if it was hard work to drive geese she answered, "They sometimes fly away." Almost equally at home on land, in water and in the air, the wild geese are among the most extensive travelers among birds and are much sought after by sportsmen. "Gander" from "goose" the latter as "duckling" is from "duck" and "lambkin" from "lamb." The young of the swan is not however, a "swanling," but a cygnet. There is no diminutive for the young of the turkey any more than for the young of the sparrow. The chipmunk, or chipping sparrow, is the best known species of this bird, but the English sparrow has, in the cities at least, driven out its American congener. The source of the name sparrow is unknown.

Mysteries of Tree Growth.

One of the most wonderful among the many incomprehensible mysteries of earth in tree growth. Everything connected with life and growth, animal and vegetable, is a mystery, for that matter, for all human knowledge fails to penetrate the hidden operations of nature, or to tell the why and the how of life, says Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser. We see the two plants growing side by side, fed from the same sources below and above the soil as far as we can determine, yet one produces a beautiful rose and the other an ill-smelling and ugly opposite, one tree produces a delicious peach and another a sour crab, yet so far as we can see the same elements sustain both. We see and realize the difference, but fail to understand it.

But there are some things about tree growth, aside from leaves, flowers or fruit, that are as deep a mystery as is anything connected with animal life. An acorn, for example, is planted in the earth and in due time it sends down roots and sends up a tiny sprout. Not interfered with it continues to grow, and in the course of many years becomes a tree. During this time the roots have been attracting moisture and food from the earth and the trunk and limbs have been obtaining something from the air. Each year a new layer of wood is added, and so it continues till a great giant of the forest is the result.

The material for all this wood has been obtained somehow and from some source but how it is done is the mystery. It may be one of many great trees growing almost against each other, and each has managed to absorb many cords of wood from hidden recesses of nature which man cannot fathom. We can search the earth and the air with all our powers and with all the instruments and appliances at our command, but we will fail to detect the tree germs.

Nor is this all or the greatest mystery. Two trees grow up side by side, fed from the same source, yet the wood of one is the soft yellow poplar and the other hard white hickory; one may be beautiful bird's eye or curled maple and the other pitch pine or oak. There is another mystery that man cannot penetrate. Somewhere or somehow the alchemy or chemistry or machinery of nature carries on its tireless and ceaseless work, and the result is before us. That is all man knows, and probably all he will ever know, on the subject. All nature is a mystery, and the growth of trees is not the least.

DIVORCED FROM HER ELEVENTH HUSBAND.

Mrs. Polly Weed Baker Has Tried
Many Names, And It Now
Sixty-Five Years Old.

Booneville, Ind., March 30.—Mrs. Polly Weed Baker, widely known as the most married woman in Indiana, to-day was granted a divorce from her eleventh husband, John Baker, Mr. Baker is the ninth of her husbands from whom she has been legally separated. One husband died a natural death and another committed suicide.

Mrs. Baker is sixty-five years old. She first was married back in the early '50s to Henry Fuquay after a brief courtship. After seven years of married life, mingled with occasional turnouts, Fuquay himself applied for a divorce and was awarded the decree on a technical point.

Her next husband was James Fuquay, a cousin of her first spouse, with whom she lived for a little over a year, seeking the divorce court when he took to drink. Next came James Henry Robinson, a dashing young widower, from whom she was divorced at the first term of court following their honeymoon.

James Fuquay was then given a second trial, but was again found wanting. Husband No. 5 was Geo. S. Boyden, traveling salesman for an Evansville firm who lasted for ten long years. At the end of that time she applied for a divorce and her plea was granted. She was married to Samuel R. Weed on January 23, 1889, but after four years he died. Husband No. 7 was another former husband, as was husband No. 8, who happened to be Mr. Boyden. Since their first separation he had fallen a victim to strong drink and in a fit of melancholy he drowned himself in a well.

Husband No. 9 and husband No. 10 were divorced and she was married to John Baker in October, 1906 and the trial, which resulted in her being granted a decree of divorce, has been pending for sometime.

WEEKLY COURIER- JOURNAL

—AND—
THE HARTFORD REPUBLICAN
Both One Year

—FOR ONLY—

$1.50.

The Presidential election is approaching. "Times have changed." That is all. Mr. Watterson is a Democrat, and has always been. The Courier-Journal is going to support the ticket. And there you have it.

Send your order for this combination to us—not to the Courier-Journal. The regular price of the weekly Courier-Journal alone is $1.00 a year.

What Would You Do

If three good physicians should pronounce your case hopeless. If they should decide that you could not live longer than six weeks. And if you should get well, after using only $12.00 worth of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve, what would you advise a friend in like condition to do?

"I have to thank you for saving my wife's life two years ago. We had continued with the doctor until the third doctor, like the two previous ones, said that nothing could be done for her; that she had better be taken home from the hospital to quietly wait her time, which would not be over 6 weeks at the most. I brought her home, and then I thought probably Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve might help her, so I got a bottle of each and some Nerve and Liver Pills and commenced to give them to her. We soon seen an improvement, and encouraged by this we continued giving the medicine. We gave her eleven bottles in all of the medicine. She takes it occasionally now if she feels the need. I am in the ministry, and have been for 44 years."

REV. P. MILLIGAN,
Genda Springs, Kans.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

FREE TRIP TO THE JAMESTOWN EXPO- SITION TO BE GIVEN BY THIS PAPER.

TO TWO MOST POPULAR YOUNG LADIES IN OHIO CO.—
ONE NORTH AND ONE SOUTH OF ROUGH RIVER.

Question to be Settled By Ballot, Under Rules
Similar to Our Mammoth Cave Trip Last Year.

Last year The Republican gave a very successful free trip to the Mammoth Cave, for Ohio county school boys, determining the favored ones by a popularity contest. We feel, this year, that the young ladies should have a chance. So we have determined to send free of any cost whatever, the most popular young lady in Ohio county, residing North of Rough river, and one residing South of the river, to the Jamestown Exposition. We do not desire to invite any trouble on the age question, and hence make no limit. Any lady who may consider herself young enough to make the trip, may enter the contest. The contest will close Saturday, August 31, at 5 o'clock p. m. The trip will be made sometime in the month of September, and the two successful ladies will be accompanied to Jamestown, by one of the editors of this paper, and his wife. Every item of expense including railroad fare, hotel bills, exposition tickets, etc., will be met by this paper.

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST.

Every dollar paid in subscriptions to The Republican, whether arrears or advance, will entitle the person making such payment to 100 votes, and they will be recorded for any one of the candidates as directed. Amounts of less than one dollar will be credited with a proportionate vote. Any one will be allowed to vote for a candidate residing in any part of Ohio county regardless of the voter's residence.

A coupon will be printed in each issue of The Republican, and when clipped and sent to our office, will be counted as five votes for the candidate whose name appears on the same. A supply of blank ballots will be furnished to any one on application. The names and standing of the various candidates will be printed in these columns from time to time. Books will be opened, ready for votes next Monday morning, March 18. Select your candidate, and arrange to aid her in every possible way.

NOT GOOD AFTER APRIL 8.

FREE TRIP TO THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because:
1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school;
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and defraud their patrons;
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities;
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified.
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not secure employment in large cities when thrown in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of high-class schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents.
Therefore, be wise. Send for the finest 68-page catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, for a worthless training at some cheap school.

THIS READS LIKE WAR TIME TALE

Who Were These Night Riders And What Wanted They?

They Wore Masks, Cut Wires, Talked Little, Kept in Dark And Mystified All.

The following story from the Cadiz Record recalls guerilla times:

Considerable speculation has been caused throughout this section as to what was the motive of the crowd that was seen pass through here last Saturday night, the only thing that they did, so far as we can learn, being to cut the wires of the Cumberland Telephone company in several places between here and Golden Pond.

Some time between eight and nine o'clock on that night, 8 or 10 men are reported to have been seen at a short bridge leading out the Canton road bridge leading out the Canton pike by a party who was coming into town walking. This party says they were all masked and one of them was climbing down a telephone pole about the time he passed them, but as soon as he saw they were masked he did not lose any time in making further investigations. All four of the wires of the Cumberland company were cut at this place. About a half-mile further on all the wires were again cut. No further evidence were seen of them until after the Cumberland river is crossed at Canton, and just beyond the ferry all of the wires were again cut. One of the wires across the Tennessee river, nine miles beyond Canton, was also down the next morning, but there seems to be some question as to whether it was cut or had broken down the same night. We have not heard of any other damage to anything or any body being done that night.

Late that night eight persons, on horse-back, were seen on one of our back streets going in the direction of Hopkinsville, but no one seems to have noticed whether they were masked or not.

We understand that no one was seen at any other place down the pike that night between here and Canton except as above stated. No one passed through either of the toll-gates. Henry Bradley, the colored ferryman, says that about 9 o'clock that night three young men, whom he never saw before, came to the ferry and wanted to cross, but it was late and he refused to cross them, whereupon they went away and he never saw them any more.

Mr. James Q. Quarles, the manager of the telephone company here, says that the one that cut their wires at the several different places was evidently an expert at the business, as the climbing was done with spurs and in a manner that showed he was an expert at the business. He says the manner in which the wires were cut and the side of the pole which was selected at each place for the going up and coming down, all goes to show the work of an up-to-date telephone lineman. He is of the opinion that it was some parties who had a grievance at the Telephone company, while we understand most of the people at Golden Pond think it was their intention to rob the bank at that place, but failed in their attempt for some unknown reason.

The entire circumstances are a mystery to every one, and it is likely that their real motive will never be known.

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty-three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by all Druggists. 50c.

A Successful Milking Machine.

One invention has followed another and now we have a milking machine. There have been contrivances for milking cows other than the human hands, but up to the present time the one we are announcing is the first which we are announcing is the first which seems to be satisfactory to the cows and to the dairymen alike. This invention is operated by foot power and also by motor power. The government report shows that this mechanical milker will do the work better and quicker than can be done with the hands; not only your time is saved, but the cows give much more milk and there is less uncleanliness connected with the new milking machine.

In his report, Mr. Lane, of the government's animal industry bureau, says that he was present in a barn when the machine was first put in operation on forty cows. Some of the animals were a little restless at first sight of the machines and on account of the clicking of the pulsators, but soon became quiet and contented. Heifers took to the machines as readily as the older cows. "The majority of the cows appeared to like the machines, and stood quietly chewing their cuds without manifesting any discomfort."

From every point of view, therefore, the mechanical milker seems to be a success, and it is altogether probable that in a few years at the longest it will come into general use.

HANDS OF CLOCK RACED BACKWARDS

And Citizens of Georgetown Fled to Their Homes in Fright of What it Foreboded.

Georgetown, Ky., March 30.—This afternoon the hands on the town clock, in the tower of the courthouse began running backward. Believing the unusual circumstance to forebode some great calamity, many of the superstitious fled to their homes and prayed.

The majority of the people turned out to watch the hands of the clock. They would move backward as steadily as if they were going around in the right direction. Suddenly, as if inspired they would move so swiftly that it was almost impossible to see them. A committee of courageous citizens was appointed to investigate, and they returned to report that the trouble had been caused by the clockkeeper or who was testing it. He had been wholly unaware of the commotion created.

When the trial of Caleb Powers was called here the last time the scales and swords, which were in the courthouse tower, dropped, and three weeks ago the clock itself fell through the courthouse, but no one was injured.

Ex-Secretary Shaw's Service.

It is fitting, as it is just to say of ex-Secretary Shaw, who has left the head of the Treasury Department, that as he was one of the few leaders in the "Silver Belt" ten years ago who had the courage to stand up and say gold when he meant gold, so in his service as a member of the Cabinet he has never lacked either the convictions or the will to uphold them, that it will be a sorry day for this country when it forgets that the basis of its prosperity is the preservation to the American people of the American market, the greatest and richest in the world.

It has become fashionable for many of our National Official Family, as a rule not men of experience in practical affairs, to flourish theoretical principles on the platform and in State papers about our manufactures, our agriculture and our commerce, foreign and domestic. Secretary Shaw, almost alone in the Cabinet, has not forgotten the guarantees on which the voters of the United States returned the Republican party to the control of the Government a decade ago, and at succeeding elections has confirmed it in such control. He has not been reluctant to challenge the theorists, in or out of the cabinet; and he has been the constant and consistent exponent before the public of the principles of his party.

His work as Secretary of the Treasury has been extraordinary successful. The value of his service there will be appreciated, perhaps, when the American people have had an opportunity to compare with it the administration which follows it. But by his championship of holding our markets for our own citizens he will be known longer, more widely and more gratefully by the American people, after they had been tempted some day into paths which have always led them to disaster and want—into paths that might have entrapped them before now if Sec. Shaw had not reminded them again and again of the political policy which has made the Republican party the trusted agent of the people and of the economic principles which have made the country great and happy.—New York "Press."

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: "It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for. A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it."

WEAK HEARTS

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol For Dyspepsia

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured. MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

MAJESTIC BAKING DEMONSTRATION

One Week, Beginning April 8th, 1907.

We heartily invite our friends to call any day during the above mentioned week and we will demonstrate the superior qualities of the

NEW MAJESTIC MALLEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON RANGES.

The MAJESTIC MALLEABLE and Steel Range as formerly turned out by the Majestic people has been considered throughout the country as par excellence and far ahead of any other range made. But with the NEW CHARCOAL IRON BODY in place of Steel, making it double its value, and the fact that it is the only range in existence made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron, you can readily see that if quality is considered, the Majestic leads by a big margin. WE WANT YOU TO CALL at our store during this week, and let us explain this new feature: —CHARCOAL IRON BODIES; let us explain why it is the best material for range bodies, and incidentally why it is not used on other ranges. We want you to call, whether you intend to buy or not, as the information gained will serve you in the future.

Hot Coffee and Biscuits, Free.

Come any day during this week and have buttered hot biscuits and hot coffee. Biscuits baked on a Majestic in three minutes while you wait.

Handsome Set of Ware, Free.

With every range sold during this demonstration we will give absolutely FREE one set of Majestic Ware worth every cent of $7.50. This ware will be on exhibition at our store. Everything useful, ornamental and durable. Come and see it, and you will agree with us that it cannot be bought for a cent less than $7.50 and is cheap at that.

COME ANY DAY. YOU ARE WELCOME WHETHER YOU INTEND TO BUY OR NOT.

UNIQUE EXAMPLE OF VANITY OF BIRDS.

They Strut Before Mirror in Effort to See Until Many Die From Exhaustion.

The following extraordinary article was published in the Owensboro Inquirer Monday as a Hartford dispatch. Deligent inquiry has not revealed to us the identity of Johnny and Willy Smith. Neither have we been able to find any one who knows of any circumstances such as are depicted in the dispatch. We give it for what it is worth neither denying or affirming.

Johnny and Willy Smith, report an unusual find while out hunting near their home. It appears that some months ago a mover broke a large mirror and, not desiring to carry it further, left it by the road side. Some person, thinking to take it home and make use of it had apparently carried it awhile through the woods, and had reconsidered and set it down near the banks of a small stream, leaning it against a tree. A part of the mirror was broken but the body of it remained unhurt. It appeared that the bright glass had attracted the attention of the birds, especially sparrows. When discovered there were at least a hundred birds singing, dancing and prancing around before the glass. Black birds, jays, blue birds, mocking birds and tom-tits were there, but the sparrows were in the ascendancy in number. All around the glass and for several yards in front of it were all kinds of dead birds in profusion, and the live birds were prancing around on the unfortunate dead, just as if it were the bare ground. The men broke the glass to pieces and scared the birds away. They were of the opinion that the birds attracted by the glass and noticing their reflection in it, made all effort possible to get to the birds on the other side, and that they walked up and down in front of the glass and remained there until they literally died of starvation trying to reach the other side. The men say there must have been some two bushels of sparrows besides dozens of other birds that inhabit this immediate country. Among them they noticed three magnificent specimens of the red bird and one crow.

SMALLHOUS.

April 3.—Mrs. Sallie Drake has gone for a visit to her children, Mrs. Birdie Nichols, South Carrollton; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Barnard, Livermore; and Mr. Felix Drake, Owensboro.

Mrs. Annie L. Withrow is quite ill at her home near here.

John Igleheart and James H. Fulker son are on the sick list.

John Morton, of Hartford, is visiting his parents.

Jess Rowe is quite sick at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Rowe.

The members of the Smallhouse Baptist church met Sunday evening and organized Sunday School, elected their teachers and distributed their books after which the little ones enjoyed an egg hunt, several dozen having been colored and hid for them to find. It is needless to say they enjoyed it fine.

Messrs. Richard Sneddon and Ham Overhuls, Rockport, were in our midst Sunday.

Misses Oma Maddox and Ethel Hunter, Messrs. Lewis Fulkerson and S. E. Hunter went to Rockport Sunday evening.

Miss Ethel Hunter was the guest of Miss Eva Kimmel from Sunday evening till Tuesday.

Miss Eva Kimmel and Mr. R. T. Sneddon spent Tuesday the guests of Miss Ethel Hunter.

One day last week while Mrs. Jas. C. Drake and little daughter, who is two years old, were out enjoying the beautiful sunshine she was greatly horrified when hearing the little one say see! see! to find she was holding a large viper in her hands. The child had it clasped around the neck. Her mamma screamed and told her to throw it down it would bite her. She then threw it down, the snake crawled off and Mrs. Drake took the child to the house. Fortunately she was not hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bullock and children were the guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bishop, Matanzas, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mr. S. T. Hunter went to South Carrollton Saturday.

The frost last Sunday night and last night did no damage to the fruit or gardens so far as I have heard though there was a great deal of ice.

Work is progressing nicely on the railroad now.

The farmers are busy breaking corn ground.

Notice.

To Miners and Farmers. We ask of you not to buy wagons or buggies from the Hickman-Ebbert company, of Owensboro, Ky., until they recognize the union and employ union men.

AMAZING FEATS OF CRAZED HORSE.

It Turned Complete Somersault Over Buggy and Kept on Going.

To snap a four-inch signal pole short off, knocked the sign through a plateglass window throw a hundred pound boy over its head, turn a complete somersault over a buggy and demolish two others in its transit, start a 4 mule team running away, rush smash bang into a Standard Oil wagon make a dive so straight at a street car that the motorman turned pale and then swerved off with a few inches to the good, go down in a heap with still a fourth smashed buggy and then try to run for the next hour is a record which should satisfy an ambitious horse during a whole life time, yet an Indiana mare turned all these tricks in the streets of Henderson in rapid succession this morning and still lives says Tuesday's Henderson Journal.

The horse which created so much damage and furor belonging to Walter Anthony, who lives on the Indiana side of the river opposite Henderson. Although nine years old the horse had not done much work in harness nor had it often seen the ways of a large city.
